This reconveyance of Allodial Aboriginal Title is irrevocable, and no subsequent actions or agreements shall revoke, diminish, or challenge the rights and interests conveyed herein.

Governing Law:

This Reconveyance shall be governed by the laws of the Allodium Moroccan Praedium Ante Michigan in accordance with Moroccan-International Law and the adjacent Moroccan Treatise as the supreme law of the land.

The Declaration of Allodial Aboriginal Title made by Watley: william-ray El, an indigenous Moroccan National, asserting his Allodial Aboriginal Title claim to the property located at 4079 Fullerton Street, Detroit, Michigan, Republic, is supported by the following treaties established during the historical reign of the Moroccan Empire:

Treaty of Peace & Friendship between the Empire of Morocco and the United States of America (1786):

This treaty, negotiated between the Sultan of Morocco and the United States, established diplomatic relations and recognized the sovereignty and territorial integrity of both nations. The treaty aimed to foster friendship, commerce, and mutual respect between the two countries, emphasizing the rights of Moroccans and their allies to engage in trade and hold properties on each other's soil.

Treaty of Marrakech with the Kingdom of Spain (1787):

The Treaty of Marrakech solidified the diplomatic and trade relationship between the Moroccan Empire and the Kingdom of Spain. It recognized the rights of Moroccan subjects and their allies to hold properties within Spanish territories and vice versa, ensuring the protection and preservation of their ancestral ties to the land.

Treaty of Tangier with the United Kingdom (1856):

The Treaty of Tangier, also known as the Anglo-Moroccan Treaty of Friendship, established a close diplomatic relationship between the Moroccan Empire and the United Kingdom. It recognized the independence and territorial integrity of Morocco while upholding the rights of British subjects to hold properties in Moroccan territories, including Detroit, Michigan, Republic.

Treaty of Fez with France (1912):

The Treaty of Fez, following the establishment of the French Protectorate in Morocco, reaffirmed the sovereignty and territorial integrity of Morocco. The treaty recognized the rights of Moroccans to hold properties and maintain their cultural heritage and ancestral connections to the land.

These treaties and agreements established by the Moroccan Empire acknowledge the rights of Moroccan State Nationals and their ancestors to claim Allodial Aboriginal Title to their ancestral lands and properties. Watley: william-ray El's declaration of Allodial Aboriginal Title is in alignment with the principles and recognition provided by these historical treaties, reinforcing his claim to the Property located at 4079 Fullerton Street, Detroit, Michigan, Republic, under the jurisdiction of Allodium Moroccan Praedium Ante Michigan.

CONSULAR COURT ORDER

Case Concerning watley: william-ray El vs. STATE OF MICHIGAN
Allodial Aboriginal Title Claim, Re-Conveyance and Reversion of Estate

Consular Court Order No. 23-121-068702-2

Date: 07/24/2023

In the Matter of the Allodial Aboriginal Title Claim of Watley: william-ray El, a Moroccan State National, to Property 18409 Sunset Street, Detroit, Michigan Republic at Morocco

WHEREAS, watley: william-ray El, a Moroccan State National (hereinafter referred to as the "Grantor"), has made a valid and legitimate claim to the Allodial Aboriginal Title of the property located at 18409 Sunset Street, Detroit, Michigan, Republic (hereinafter referred to as the "Property"); and

WHEREAS, the Grantor has asserted his inherent rights and ancestral connection to the land, seeking to reclaim all reversionary interest he holds in the Property; and

WHEREAS, the Grantor has established The WILLIAM RAYEH WATLEY TRUST (hereinafter referred to as the "Trust") to hold and manage the Allodial Estate of the Property under the jurisdiction of Allodium Moroccan Praedium Ante Michigan consular court.

NOW, THEREFORE, based on the evidence presented, and in accordance with supporting Moroccan treaties and international laws, this Consular Court orders the following:

Recognition of Allodial Aboriginal Title:

The Consular Court recognizes and affirms the Allodial Aboriginal Title claim of Watley: william-ray El to the Property located at 18409 Sunset Street, Detroit, Michigan, Republic. The Claimant has demonstrated his ancestral connection to the land, and his claim is supported by the principles of Allodial ownership.

Reversionary Interest:

The Consular Court acknowledges the Grantor's right to reclaim all reversionary interest he holds in the Property, effectively extinguishing any previous claims to the Property.

Establishment of The WILLIAM RAYEH WATLEY TRUST:

The Consular Court recognizes the establishment of The WILLIAM RAYEH WATLEY TRUST to hold, safeguard, and manage the Allodial Estate of the Property, ensuring the preservation of the Grantor's ancestral connection and rights. The Trust is recognized as the lawful holder of the Allodial Aboriginal Title to the Property under the jurisdiction of Allodium Moroccan Praedium Ante Michigan consular court.
